Performance review

In July, PHILEAS L/S EUROPE rose by 2.60%, recording gains of 5.62% on the long portfolio and losses of 3.02% on the short portfolio as market rose by 7.64% (Stoxx 600).

The main positive contributors this month :

- In Services/IT (+126 bps), we benefitted from a turnaround in several quality stocks that had undergone significant derating amid rising interest rates since the start of the year. Dassault Systèmes, Adyen, and Wolters Kluwer outperformed the market. In addition, half-year results from most of our portfolio companies served to confirm our projections, particularly in IT Services. Capgemini, Alten, and Sopra exceeded revenue growth expectations. Digital transformation among major companies is likely to remain a central theme in the years ahead.
- In Industrials (+75 bps), performance was driven by our long positions in Schneider, Nexans, Croda, and Rational. Schneider and Nexans published excellent results. Against an increasingly challenging macroeconomic backdrop, both companies will be buoyed by the energy transition. The electrification of infrastructure will provide a significant growth driver that should be reflected in their operating performances.
- In Healthcare (+61 bps), Sartorius and Danaher performed particularly well. During the first half of 2022, Sartorius demonstrated just how robust its growth trends are. Our hedge positions were also effective, in particular due to the Fresenius Medical Care profit warning.

The main negative contributors this month :

- In Food Retail (-24 bps), we decided to sell most of our positions, namely Hellofresh on the long side and our Just Eat and Delivery Hero hedges. Limited visibility for these significant beneficiaries of the Covid-19 restrictions coupled with highly volatile share prices deprive us of the confidence level required to manage these positions.

Spie's second-quarter results are a step in the right direction. The company posted a satisfactory organic growth rate of 4% and full-year forecasts have also been raised. Like Nexans and Schneider, Spie is well positioned for the energy transition megatrend. We concur with Spie's management that future growth will exceed the company's historical level of 1–2% and in this case, the company's current valuation is too low.
